Target Audience

This course is for language teachers, who wish to incorporate story, video and image in their teaching. The course addresses how video can engage language learners' needs for narrative. Participants should have a minimum English language level corresponding to B1 on the CFR.

Course Overview and Outcomes

What is it about video? Why do we feel the need to turn to sites like YouTube as a source of material and inspiration? The answer is simple. Like all human beings, language learners need narrative. As teachers, we intuitively know this. And video provides us with a constant stream of visual stories to engage them.

This course will show you how to use video narratives to engage students and get them listening, thinking, speaking, collaborating, problem solving and more. By participating in the course, you will learn fundamental principles and techniques for using video and story to get the most out of your students.

Content

Video and Story for Language Teachers includes content drawn from some or all of the following areas:

- Making the most of video in and out of your classroom – including online contexts
- Exploring how to engage students and get them listening, thinking, speaking, reading, writing, problem solving and much more
- Improving classroom storytelling skills and helping students do the same
- Task-setting in which students make use of video cameras in and out of the classroom
- Making the most of video cameras in the teacher's hands
- Building a bank of original Lesson Stream lesson plans

Specific course content comes from feedback you and other participants give us through pre-course questionnaires, identifying your needs and priorities. We build time into the course for reflection, to consider how to adapt the content to your own professional context.

All NILE at ESE Malta courses involve a significant element of English language improvement and/or the development of language awareness

Trainer/ Jamie Keddie

NILE's highly experienced trainers are experts, not only in their fields, but also in working with teachers for continuing professional development. This course will be run by Jamie Keddie. Jamie is a European-based teacher, teacher trainer, writer and presenter. He is the founder of Lessonstream, the site that was formerly known as TEFLclips, winner of a British Council ELTons award. His publications include Images and Bringing Online Video into the Classroom, both published by Oxford University Press. As well as visual materials, Jamie is interested in storytelling-based teaching approaches.

Teaching approaches

We make courses practical and 'hands-on', with reference to relevant theory. Our classes are participant-centred and collaborative, designed to build knowledge and confidence. We use activities and tasks to help you apply the course content to your setting.
